THE COLOURFUL BUTTERFLY

Once upon a time there was a tiny green spotted caterpillar called Sam. Sam lived on a leaf with lots of other caterpillars.

"I wonder what colour I will be?" they said to each other.

One day the caterpillars became much much bigger. They each turned into a hard chrysalis and waited to hatch.

When the caterpillars hatched they were beautiful colours.
All except Sam, who's wings had no colour at all.

"Where are your colours Sam?" they said

"You're a nobody". Sam was really sad.

"I wish I was colourful like my friends, said Sam. So he decided to find some colour for his wings.

FIRSTLY HE FLEW TO FRANCE

HE FLAPPED HIS WINGS IN A LAVENDER FIELD AND PURPLE APPEARED ON HIS WINGS.

THEN HE FLEW TO SPAIN

THE ORANGES WERE RIPE, HE WHEN HE FLAPPED HIS WINGS, ORANGE APPEARED ON THEM.

FINALLY HE FLEW

TO JAPAN

HE FLAPPED HIS WINGS NEAR A CHERRY BLOSSOM TREE AND PINK AND GREEN ~~APPEARED ON HIS~~ WINGS. NOW HE WAS A BEAUTIFUL BUTTERFLY.

When he flew home, everybody looked at Sam.

"Who is that beautiful butterfly?"

"I have never seen one so colourful before."

Sam just flapped his wings and said "oh... nobody!"
